2. [redacted] Jack Leahy, State Department, indicated that the House Commerce Committee has asked FCC Commissioner T. A. M. Craven to testify on the proposed amendments to the Communications Act involving reciprocity with foreign nations and the establishment of low-power radio transmitters. Leahy has suggested to the Department that they meet with Craven before the hearings on Thursday to discuss his testimony. Leahy asked if we would like to have a representative present. I thanked him for the invitation and declined.
